

Hailed as the world's most advanced antioxidant formulation

Life Extension Mix - Nothing else compares

A growing number of scientific research studies is showing that a powerful group of nutrients known as antioxidants appear to slow the aging process, while offering protection against many age related degenerative illnesses. These include heart disease, cancer, brain and immune system damage, arthritis and even wrinkles.

Antioxidants have a protective effect on health because they reduce the number of free radicals in the body. As their name suggests, free radicals act like destructive terrorists in the body attacking healthy cells, making them more vulnerable to disease and causing them to age faster. They also work against the immune system and play a role in age related illnesses. Three of the most significant sources of free radicals are the fat in our diets (particularly vegetable oils) the action of sunlight on our skin, and radiation. Have you ever seen a plastic bottle that has become dried up and brittle from lying out in the sun? The same thing happens over time to the collagen in our bodies as a result of free radicals.

Designer products

Nutritional Science has made revolutionary progress in recent years and now we are seeing high-tech, specially designed products to meet specific needs. Now for the first time we are introducing such products into Ireland.

Life Extension Mix has been formulated to provide the most powerful combination of known antioxidants.

It has the added benefit of combining a number of powerful antioxidants together so that they work in synergy and enhance each other's effect. Many of our customers who use this product say that they have much more energy, that the condition of their skin and hair quickly improves and they become more mentally alert.
